

Certification Course on Commercial Kitchen Design & Licensing (25 Feb, 4, 6, 11, 18 & 20 March 2013)

ORGANIZER:

The Hong Kong Institution of Engineers – Mechanical, Marine,
Naval Architecture & Chemical Division

CO-ORGANIZERS:

The Hong Kong Institution of Engineers – Gas & Energy Division
Hong Kong Registered Ventilation Contractors Association
Institution of Mechanical Engineers, Hong Kong Branch

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

In today's business environment it takes hard work to achieve success in commercial kitchen planning and design. A commercial kitchen is a lot more complex than the one in your own home, and there are many needs that have to be met. These needs include kitchen layout planning, design, ventilation installation and testing and commissioning procedure, as well as licensing approval from related departments of HKSAR Government. This course aims at broadening engineers' knowledge in planning and design of commercial kitchen in Hong Kong.
